Business Students Getting Involved

More than 175 students are involved in at least one of our six business student organizations here at Ashland. These student chapters serve as vehicles for learning in the real-world and give students the opportunity to get involved on campus and in the community. From focusing on community involvement, competing at competitions out of state, and even taking businesses international, our COBE students are doing it all! Read about COBE organizations and their accomplishments...\(Read More\)
